

BRAZIL MAY BE STOCKPILE OF THE WESTERN WORLD

May One Day Prove To Be Great Strategic Location

HAS GREAT RICHES

Much of Its Resources Are Still Untouched and Untapped

In event of emergency or future prosperity, Brazil may emerge as the stockpile of the Western Hemisphere.

To study and report the extent and importance of Brazil's past and future contributions to the western world, Lee Van Atta, veteran war and foreign correspondent of International News Service, has carried out a 15,000 mile aerial tour which took him to the four corners of the vast country.

In the following article, first in a series of seven, Van Atta tells of Brazil's amazing resources and its resources for defense — readily available to the United States on a basis of mutual and cordial friendship.

By Lee Van Atta

(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 5.—(INS)

Some five thousand miles south and east of New York is the capital of the nation which one day may prove the great strategic stockpile of the Western Hemisphere.

For here in Brazil, a country as large as all of the United States plus yet another Texas, lie what many believe to be the greatest riches owned by any of the Western powers.

To a large extent, they are untapped. Only a minute fraction of Brazil's tremendous raw materials and raw resources have been exploited by man. Only a handful of people in this country have even set eyes on the "great outback" where, modern scientists are convinced, rests wealth in untold quantities.

Brazil is the last immense frontier of the Western Hemisphere. The fine culture of its capital and coastal cities notwithstanding, this nation today is much the same as America a hundred years ago.

Beyond the western hills and plains, to the north and south, wherever one looks or seeks to go, the soil, the forests and the resources are yet to be developed and, in many areas, yet even to be found.

For Brazil today, like America a century ago, is a land virtually without modern industrial communications. Quite literally, the nation has made an overnight transition from the ox-cart to the airplane. The great arterial highways which criss-cross the United States are unknown in Brazil.

Even along the heavily populated eastern seaboard, from Rio de Janeiro 1,200 miles north to the cities of Natal and Belem, there are no through highways; no means of crossing the frequently torrential rivers which spill into the south Atlantic.

Nor are there the vast networks of railways to bring to the coast the wealth of the interior. In fact, Brazil has very few railways and the development of her tremendous economical potential has suffered for lack of the endless blue of steel tracks and the day and night shuttling of thousands of freight cars so typical of America.

Brazil is keenly aware of that deterrent to her progress. It is a recognition which originates in

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Marshall Plan countries, it was announced, have supplied nearly $2,000,000,000 of their own money to match ECA funds. The United States, fearing a revival of European cartels, has opposed a French plan for investment pacts in any economic grouping of France, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The Bidault Government in France was shaken by the resignation of a second Cabinet member within a week.

Generalissimo Chiang, vowing to carry on the fight against the Communists regardless of the cost, declared that the Chinese people had risen against the Communist regime.

Britain's new Governor of Sarawak was seriously injured when stabbed by assailants at a reception.

The Palestine and Chinese questions are the only major items left on the agenda of the United Nations General Assembly, which is expected to adjourn this week.

John L. Lewis, unable so far to win concessions from the soft-coal operators, will open contract talks with the anthracite owners tomorrow.

President Truman has directed Commerce Secretary Sawyer to make the first Government study for a positive approach to the problem of monopoly and restraint of trade. Steel companies and their trade group offered to accept a Government consent order to end the basing-point pricing system on a wide list of products.

Major colleges and universities, with grants of more than $125,000, 000 from Government and industry, will carry out a record research program this year.

Keep Guard on Man Who Killed Two

MORRISTOWN, N. J.—Police kept a tight guard today on a jealousy-crazed rejected suitor, who ran amuck in a New Jersey tavern, killing his childhood sweetheart and her husband of 15 months. He also critically shot and wounded a bartender who tried to intervene. The killer, Ralph Coolack, 36, an infantry veteran, is in Morristown, N. J., county jail. Meanwhile, Homer Luhnman, 44, a utility engineer who works as a part-time bartender, is fighting for his life in Morristown Memorial Hospital. Police said Coolack went berserk in a Whippany, N. J., tavern, because his former sweetheart not only spurned him for another, but squandered some $1,500 he sent her in Army overseas savings. Dead are: Mrs. Irene Poole, 30, and her husband, Arthur, 29, a veteran, of Whippany.

ANOTHER DEATH DUE TO SHOOTING AT THE FEASTERVILLE INN, WHICH OCCURRED TWO YEARS AGO

Allen Hellerman, 49, Hopeless Paralytic Since Hold-Up,
Dies at His Home in Philadelphia — Shot by Swaggering,
Bragging Gunman When Tavern was Held Up

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—A hopeless paralytic since he was shot during the Feasterville Inn hold-up in Bucks county two years ago, Allen ("Reds") Hellerman, 49, died yesterday of a heart attack at his home, 3453 Palmetto street.

Hellerman was shot in cold blood by a swaggering, bragging gunman, who with two companions, faces death in the electric chair for the Bucks county shooting.

Rescue Squad 2, of Langdon and Foulkrod streets, tried for 35 minutes to revive Hellerman with oxygen and restoratives. Hellerman was pronounced dead by Dr. Irvin J. Lebow, a neighborhood physician.

With Hellerman at the time of his death was his wife, Anna, his constant companion and attendant during the long months that his torn and wounded spine confined him either to bed or to a wheel chair.

Among the few trips made by Hellerman from his home were those to the Bucks County Criminal Court at Doylestown to testify against the four young trigger-happy Philadelphia bandits who participated in the murderous Feasterville holdup on the night of December 22, 1947.

Hellerman was one of two patrons shot by the bandits inside the tavern. William Kelly, 38, of Feasterville, a passerby, was shot and killed as the bandits sped away from the holdup in a car.

Out of the Doylestown trials, death in the electric chair was decreed for Harry Zeitz, 20, of Oakland street, near Sanger; Harold Foster, 25, of Teasdale street, near Frankford avenue, and David Darcy, 25, of Large street, near Bridge.

Felix Capone, of Brill street, near Duffield, who was only 16 years old at the time of the holdup, was given life imprisonment.

Hellerman, during the trials, declared Zeitz fired the shot that pierced his neck and lodged in his spine.

At Darcy's trial, Hellerman said he had been playing shuffleboard at the rear of the tavern when Darcy opened fire with a pistol. One of the shots struck between Hellerman's feet.

"I grabbed Darcy," he testified, "and tried to get the gun. We scuffled out into the barroom. Then Zeitz put a gun right in my face and fired."

HEADS FOR TOP AGENCIES

Under the National Security Act of 1949 the job of coordinating the military aspects of industrial mobilization was vested in the Defense Department's Munitions Board, a four-member body headed up by a civilian chairman.

The board has been without a chairman since June when Donald F. Carpenter resigned. Two attempts to fill the post were fruitless. The Senate rejected Carl Benitz of U. S. Steel because he couldn't give up his $70,000 a year salary. Ward M. Canaday of Willys-Overland regrettably said "No, thanks" for a similar reason. But in Hubert E. Howard of Chicago President Truman found a combination of executive talent and willingness to make an economic sacrifice.

Mr. Howard's qualifications are described as more than adequate. In addition to being a top flight industrialist he has been serving as a spare time consultant in the Defense Department for some months. He thus has an intimate knowledge in one area in which he must operate.

But another top job, the chairmanship of the National Security Resources Board, still remains to be filled. The quest for a candidate for the Munitions Board post is a reflection of the difficulty of recruiting the right men for the highly specialized jobs created by the complexities of the modern defense setup.

THEY CAN HAVE IT

A reporter for a Washington newspaper notes gloomily that the prized, pampered "cold bug" of the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md., has escaped.

Briefly, the elusive virus that produces the symptoms of the common cold has been isolated and kept alive and healthy — if that's the right word to use — for months at the institute by Dr. Leon T. Atlas, U. S. Public Health Service scientist. Two months ago it "disappeared."

The people at Bethesda don't know whether it just died or is on the loose. Anyway, three years of work might as well be thrown in the trash can.

Sitting there with handkerchief in hand, it does us little good to reflect that the little wretch may now be our property. It just goes to show how the sense of values differs among human beings. We'd give our shirt to be rid of the little thing. The scientists at Bethesda would give their laboratory smocks to have it back.

During that Panama revolution some of the participants must have been running around like Panamanians.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

NEWPORTVILLE — A horse for horse race between Charles Stenmer and David Carter occurred on Wednesday last between this town and Bridgetown. Stenmer came out ahead because Carter had to wait to get a note changed at the toll gate, while Stenmer had the right change.

Last Friday morning, former councilman Frank Plum met with an accident while at work at the Trenton Abattoir. As he stepped into the elevator on the third floor, the rope broke, and the car was precipitated to the bottom. Both of Mr. Plum's ankles were dislocated. The elevator fell a distance of 33 feet.

James McCarty and Nicola Tarilli were killed at Crofton on Tuesday night at 9:45 o'clock by being run down by a train. The two men, with Patrick McFadden, were on the way to repair a break in the rails on No. 4 track. In the meantime, all trains monthly running on this track were shifted to another in the run between Bristol and Cornwells station. It was upon this track the men were walking, not expecting any train. According to McFadden, who escaped, they heard the train coming, but thought it was on another track. It came in their rear and was upon them when McFadden shouted and jumped out of the way, but the other two men were tossed about 40 feet.

government and flows through every branch of the economy. And, because this country is an economically dynamic as her more industrialized neighbor to the north, it will not be long before the great gap in transportation techniques between ox cart and airplane will be filled.

The average North American, as a U. S. citizen is known, thinks largely of Brazil in terms of the inevitable cup of coffee. But the future is expected to make the land's rich coffee revenue of today only a small fraction of the national income.

Consider the known resources: At least one third of the world's iron deposits.

Indications of substantial oil resources under nearly 75 per cent of the total explored land area.

Unlimited hydroelectric power. Industrial diamonds in quantity taking their place with gold and precious stones as an added mineral wealth.

The heavy rubber concentrations of the Amazon River basin.

The world's largest supply of manganese, an item the U. S. has frequently purchased from Russia due to critical domestic requirements.

And, to round out the picture of raw resources, literally untold billions of board feet of fine timber, bauxite and the newest of all coming great industries, beef cattle.

Those are the known resources. The unknown, the yet-to-be-found riches of this strangely exciting land may take decades to discover and uncover so sweeping is the land itself and the potential of what it holds.

It is, in the words of an American businessman in Rio, "the logistical storehouse of the world." Brazil is, also, one of the most important allies possessed by the United States in these critical post-war years. For here, five thousand miles from New York but on a sea and air route which can be defended and kept open, are the raw essentials of defense for which the U. S. once had to send to Asia, The Netherlands Indies, eastern and northern Europe and Africa.

Not only are they essentials for defense. Many of those raw resources found in such abundance in Brazil are vital keys to the continuance of America as the first-line industrial and productive power of the world. Without those resources in the years to come, the industrial wheels of Detroit and Pittsburgh and Cleveland would grind to an inevitable halt.

The future of the United States is linked as certainly with Brazil as that nation's economy today, through her coffee and other resources, is linked with the United States.

It is, fortunately for both nations, an entente cordiale in which both countries share a tremendous respect for the other.

What you should know about Christmas

THE first Christmas card was drawn by W. E. Dobson, British artist, in 1844 and sent to a friend. Two years later the first commercial Christmas cards were printed and sold. They were the size of ladies' visiting cards.

student nurses. Invitations have been received from several of the hospitals urging interested young women to learn at first hand the work of a trained nurse.

The girls chorus, under the direction of Miss Burtis, will give a musical program over a Phila. radio station at 4:30 on March 8. The program has been arranged for 30 minutes. Several girls, under the direction of Miss Burtis, have participated in amateur performances including singing, piano, accordion solo's and other similar musical activities over Philadelphia radio stations.

The high school is planning to have carol singing between eleven and twelve o'clock on December 23. All of the pupils will be given an opportunity to participate. The home-rooms have planned Christmas parties and other entertainment activities. In all of the elementary schools there will be Christmas parties, singing of carols and programs indicative of the Christmas season.

Shopping early for Christmas has many advantages.

modified the arrangements amount to $67.

There were to be $125 quarterly installments, and payments were made between June 24, 1947, and Sept. 24, 1948.

Counsel for the plaintiff, Webster S. Achey, informed the Court that the defendants have vacated the Milford township property and that it is "rotting away."

"The insurance and taxes are going on just the same and I think we should have the right to rent it or move in," said Achey.

The Court refused to grant this right to the plaintiff at this time.

Counsel for the defendants argued that the defendant-veteran, who is the father of 2 children when he lost his on-the-job training and was no longer able to meet the monthly financial demands, re-enlisted in the Army. "When he and his wife, and the mother decided to buy the place he was earning about $200 a month," said Klein.

The young wife of the veteran cried as she left the court room. The $8300 mortgage has been reduced to $8100.

Warren company, in Middle Bucks Co., when 87 members and guests attended. Included among the guests were officials of other horse companies in central Bucks county.

Attending the dinner was the veteran Dr. John B. Carroll, of Hatboro, who in spite of his 98 years, enjoyed the anniversary get-together. He has been a member for nearly 75 years. In his remarks, Dr. Carroll, who said that he doubted very much whether he could attend regularly in the future, stressed the value of fine fellowship such as exists among horse company members. He urged them to "carry on the activities."

In the absence of President Robert Engart, of Willow Grove, who was ill, the business session was presided over by Charles Halliwell, vice president; John L. Phillips, Ivyland, treasurer.

Twelve new members were elected during the evening, including Recorder of Deeds-elect J. Hart Jamison, of Ivyland, who sat at the dias with the officers and guests of honor.

Farewell Dinner Is Tendered The Russos

A farewell dinner party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Russo at Roman Hall, Trenton, N. J., on Tuesday evening. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Silver Stella, Mr. and Mrs. William Cattani, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quarantini, Bristol; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Menna, Red Bank, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nicol, Mr. and Mrs. Italo Corasini, Chief County detective and Mrs. Frank Naples, of Trenton, N. J. Dancing followed.

The group presented Mr. and Mrs. Russo with a leather-cased traveling clock. William Cattani accompanied Mr. Russo when he left this week for Florida. Mrs. Cattani and Mrs. Russo will join their husbands in January.

Perhaps Pennsylvania's new Motor Vehicle Safety-Responsibility Law (effective February 1, 1950) will not spoil many romances, but loss of your driving rights can easily occur!

If you have just one auto accident resulting in injury, death, or property damage over $100, you'll have to show you have Automobile insurance to cover any possible resulting claims, or state authorities will require you to put up as much as $11,000 in cash or a surety bond.

Failure to do so will result in suspension of your car registration and driver's license!

Your best safeguard against such a disaster is proper Automobile Liability and Property Damage Insurance. We can write a Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company Policy for you that will meet the law's requirements, protect you from financial loss, and assure you of top-notch service in any accident emergency. Almighty and merciful God, as another Christmas Season approaches wilt Thou not turn our eyes away from the world of men, and help us to fix them upon Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ Whom Thou hast sent. May we not forget that only because of Thy love and sacrifice is Christmas joy possible in this world of darkness and sin.

ST. ANN'S WINS CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE NORTHEAST FOOTBALL CONFERENCE BY DEFEATING DITMAN A. A.; SCORE, 7 TO 0

PENNDLE, Dec. 5—A sensational 92-yard run after a pass interception by Wayne "Inky" Schneider gave St. Ann's A. A. the 1949 championship of the Northeast Football Conference yesterday on the Pennel Memorial field as the "Saints" won over Ditman A. A., 7-0, in a cleanly-fought contest before 2,000 spectators.

The triumph enabled St. Ann's to cop the large Passon trophy and the Northeast Conference trophy as the Bristol team also won the regular season championship, also nosing out Ditman for this honor. The "Saints" finished their season with 11 victories, one defeat, and a tie.

There could not have been a better stage set for Schneider's run than the one yesterday. "Inky" was playing in his own back yard (he comes from Hulmeville) on the Pennel field. Used only on defense and kicking most of the game, Schneider utilized his only first half chance to carry the ball when he snatched the ball in mid-air in the second quarter and began his fast race to the goal-line. One good block enabled Schneider to get out into the open and the only player that had a chance to catch him was Bierman. Bierman had his mitts on Schneider on about the 20-yard line but the St. Ann's back got away and continued his touchdown run.

Nick Lomma, pulled out of center, expertly place-kicked the extra point conversion for the seventh point of the contest.

In the dying moments of the game, Schneider again thrilled the fans with a magnificent run. The clock showed less than two minutes to play when Schneider was sent into kick formation. Instead of punting, Schneider started around end. He had perfect blocking to get into the clear and again he was goal-line bound. But on the four-yard line he was blocked in and forced to step out of bounds. Two plays took the ball to the two-yard line but before another play could be lined up, the game ended.

Other than the spectacular run of Schneider, the line defensive playing of John Antoni and a few spotty good plays, Ditman dominated the entire game with the exception of the first quarter which was all St. Ann's.

The green-jerseyed team had eleven first downs in the contest while St. Ann's was held to four. The Ditman eleven had a more variation of plays and made several nice drives. But the Golden Wave line was at its best when close to its goal line and threw the Ditman team back. Schneider's long boots helped put the Ditman boys in a hole continually while in the first quarter, Marvin Collins made a perfect "coffin corner" kick, the punt rolling out of bounds on the goal line.

Again St. Ann's found the Ditman team its toughest foe of the year as in their first meeting. However, it was the ground attack of the Philadelphia team that gained the most yardage yesterday while in the previous meeting, it was in the air that Ditman was most dangerous. "Jim" O'Keefe, stellar end, caught two wonderful passes. His second was made on the St. Ann's 15-yard line where he was forced to leap at least four feet into the air to catch the ball, surrounded by St. Ann's blockers.

The Bristol team passed up several scoring opportunities in the first session, having the ball in Ditman's territory all the time. Fredricks took the kick-off on the 40. Two plays lost ten yards and then Jasper Mangiaracina recovered a fumble on the 18. Williams got the ball back by recovering a fumble on the 8-yard line. Three plays netted seven yards so Spicer kicked to Antoni who carried it back 19 yards to the 26. Two line plays by J. Fiorelli and Antoni made seven yards. A pass to Leo Fiorelli fell short of its mark and Joe Napoli tried for a first and missed. Ditman taking over on its 19. Salus fumbled but recovered on his 3-yard line. After a pass completion to Spicer netted 19 yards and a line play failed, Spicer kicked to Antoni who was spilled on the 39. Leo Fiorelli lost 2 yards. Elmer fell and lost another yard. J. Fiorelli picked up two but Collins was called in to kick. His punt rolled out on the goal-line. After Dougherty was stopped at center, Spicer kicked to Schneider on the 34. After a line play netted 1 yard, "Ed" Henratty passed to Stan Lelinski for a first down on the 15. A St. Ann's penalty cost 5 yards. Three line plays and a pass failed so Ditman took over on its 25. Lynn carried it to the 35 on a pitchout as the quarter ended.

Ditman began to roll at the start of the second quarter. Dougherty made a first down on his 49. A pass, Hartzel to O'Keefe was completed for a first on the St. Ann's 39, the first time Ditman was in the Golden Wave's territory. Another pass to O'Keefe put the ball on the 15. But John Antoni broke up the attack by intercepting on the 5. He ran to the 32 but St. Ann's was penalized 15 yards to the 18. Shortly after, Schneider kicked out on the Ditman 45. Line plays and a fumble lost game ended before the touchdown could be pushed over.

St. Ann's played without the services of its star back, "Bill" Marion, who was ill with the gripple.

After the game, St. Ann's was host to the Ditman team in its clubhouse on Wood street, Bristol. Refreshments were served.
